U. N. TROOPS SEIZE THE KEY HEIGHTS NORTH OF RECAPTURED YONGWOL; HURL THE 'RED' FORCES INTO LONG RETREATS

Tank-Led U. S. 8th Army
Patrol Sweeps Up Two Roads Toward Seoul

RESISTANCE IS MET

Report 3,000 Chinese and
North Korean Troops
Solidly "Dug In"

By Howard Handelman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Jan. 25.—(INS)—United Nations troops seized key heights north of recaptured Yongwol today after hurling Red forces into long retreats in that east-central sector of the South Korean front.

In the west, tank-led U. S. Eighth Army patrol sweeps up two roads leading to Seoul apparently reached the outer crust of Chinese and North Korean Red defenses below the Communist-held national capital.

Slightly stiffening Red resistance was reported in both the western and central sectors after one UN armored task force rammed up the middle of the peninsula through Hoengsong to within 33 miles of Parallel 38.

The 14-mile dash from Wonju to a point two miles north of Hoengsong on Wednesday was followed at dusk with a strategic retirement for the night. UN planes struck heavily at Hoengsong Thursday morning, indicating the Reds had re-entered that pivotal hub during the night.

International News Service war correspondent Lee Ferrero said in a Thursday midday front dispatch that the Eighth Army received reports of 3,000 Chinese and North Korean troops solidly dug in 11 miles northwest of Yeoju. That junction lies 38 miles southeast of Seoul.

This was the largest Red group yet found since the Eighth Army began its current series of armored probing thrusts in search of the enemy's main dispositions south and southeast of the capital. However, the principal Communist

MISS JOY LEISTER RETURNING TO U. S. AFTER TWENTY YEARS AS A MISSIONARY IN CHINA; AIDED BY THE CALVARY CHURCH

With almost an exact 20 years of service in China behind her, Miss Joy Leister is enroute to the United States accompanied by her co-worker, Dr. Dorothy Harris. Having completed the first lap of their journey, they are due to arrive in this country soon.

Miss Leister, after having graduated from Wheaton College, left here in 1931 to devote her life to the Chinese, going out under the China Inland Mission. Seven years later she was joined by Dr. Dorothy Harris, who, previous to her departure for the Orient, practiced medicine in Philadelphia.

The two missionaries receive their support from the Aidan Union Church of Aldan, and Calvary Baptist Church of Bristol. Upon their return they will reside in Aldan.

Miss Leister's family resides in Bristol township.

SINISTER FIGURES SHOW DRUG MENACE

Narcotic Syndicates Operate
In International
Rings

THE "LIVING DEATH"

This is the last of four articles reporting on the rapid spread of drug addiction among the nation's teen-agers, and what authorities are doing about it.

By Malcolm Johnson
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(INS)—Back of the tragic, mounting problem of drug addiction among teenage youths stand the sinister figures in the crime syndicates specializing in narcotics.

They operate in highly organized international rings and never come into direct contact with their ultimate victims—the addicts condemned to a living death.

These mystery men in the higher echelons of organized crime often do not handle narcotics themselves, but operate through agents whom they finance throughout the world for smuggling operations.

SHIP FIRST STEEL

The first steel to be used in building the new United States Steel plant in Falls Township was shipped yesterday from the Trenton plant of the American Bridge Co. The first carload was shunted from the railroad siding of the Trenton plant and it will be used in the initial structural work.

IS HOSPITALIZED

Mrs. Milton Jones, 344 Magnolia road, was transported to Abington hospital yesterday in Bristol Blood Donors ambulance.

She was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church. His wife and several children survive.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

United Nations members were warned by Warren R. Austin yesterday that each was in danger of aggression unless all adopted the United States motion to brand Communist China an aggressor in Korea.

Australia and three Latin-American countries supported this motion in the Assembly's Political Committee. The Arab-Asian group introduced a resolution for a seven-power preliminary conference that was criticized as being weaker than Peiping's proposals for a cease-fire. Prime Minister Nehru, broadcasting in India, strongly opposed the United States motion and said he was "convinced" Peiping was anxious for talks to settle all the Far Eastern questions.

This country is striving to retain unity among non-Communist countries despite differences on Asiatic policy, Secretary Acheson indicated. He refused to comment on Mr. Nehru's remarks but welcomed Congressional demands that the United Nations brand Peiping.

France adopted a policy combining Western solidarity with caution against enlarging the area of armed conflict. In Britain, Ambassador Gifford urged Prime Minister Attlee to speed British rearming to offset unfavorable American reaction to his stand opposing sanctions against Peiping.

United States, French and British notes asked Moscow to clarify its stand on a preliminary meeting of deputies in Paris to draw an agenda for four-power talks not limited to German rearming.

A spokesman for educators opposed before a Senate committee the plan to draft 18-year-olds for twenty-seven-months service. The House, 390 to 0, passed and sent to the Senate a bill for $10,000 free insurance for all on active military duty. Dozens of bills were introduced to raise Marine Corps strength to at least 400,000.

A Connecticut jury decided the Government had no right to seize $6,133 from Vivien Kellems and her brother as penalties for not withholding employees' income taxes. The Government filed a $2,258,349 income tax lien against Frank Erickson, gambler.

Parents of boys who have enlisted in the armed forces (those young men who are registered with Local Selective Service Board, No. 35, here) are asked to send their sons' military addresses to that local board.

Experiences at Work Camp Are Recounted

NEWTOWN, Jan. 25.—Newtown township parent-teacher association members met Monday evening in West school with William B. Shull in charge.

William Whitehead, program chairman, introduced Miss Barbara Clough, of the George school faculty, who spoke on her experiences during the past summer when she was a member of the George school group, which helped in work camps. Part of Miss Clough's talk was illustrated with slides.

Mrs. Frank Whitlock and Mrs. Charles Keyser were members of the hospitality committee.

SEEKING VOLUNTEERS FOR CANTEEN CORPS

Paul D. Brown is New Disaster Service Chairman
For Red Cross

SUCCEEDS H. SCHMIDT

The American Red Cross has an urgent need for volunteers in the canteen corps. This important service functions in the Bristol district whenever the Bloodmobile comes here to receive blood from donors in the community.

A short course is necessary to prepare volunteers to do their jobs and anyone interested in giving this service is asked to contact the Bristol office where all information concerning duties and requirements for canteen service will be presented.

Mrs. D. Barker Cook, chairman of Bristol Red Cross board, has announced appointment of a new chairman for disaster service. Paul D. Brown, Benson Place, will take over the duties of this service. Mr. Brown, a member of the Bristol High School faculty, replaces Horace Schmidt, whose recent resignation from the disaster service was received with regret.

Housing Development
Planned at Roelofs

ROELOFS, Jan. 25.—Another housing development in the lower Bucks County area has been planned on the farm of Nick Barkasy. Operations are starting to develop the nearly 100 acres as a housing development for individual homes. The houses will be of frame, constructed under F. H. A. and will be offered for sale. The development is known as the "Big Oak Village, Inc."

The houses are being planned to accommodate the influx of residents to the community, expected to follow the development of the plant of the United States Steel Corporation in Falls township.

The parties in interest were represented in the transaction by Grim, Cadwallader and Darlington, attorneys, of Morrisville.

CIGARETTE FIRE CAUSE

MORRISVILLE, Jan. 25.—A fire which occurred at the home of Charles Shaw, on Bank street, yesterday morning, is believed due to a discarded cigarette. Shaw informed Chief Marvin Allison of the local fire companies, that he tossed a cigarette aside as he chopped wood in the cellar. When the cigarette landed in shavings in a pile of lumber, the lumber ignited.

Find Lifeless Body Of Edgely Resident

EDGELY, Jan. 25.—The lifeless body of Herbert L. Guy, Sr., was found in the bedroom of his home here early last evening when his daughter returned home.

Mr. Guy had been shot through the left temple, according to Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Rigby, Cornwells Heights.

According to the coroner, a .22 caliber rifle lay beside the body.

The discovery was made at 5:30 o'clock, the body being found on the floor in the bedroom.

The Guy family, formerly of Pine Grove street, Bristol, had resided in Edgely for the past few years.

Survivors of Mr. Guy are his wife, Mary R. Guy; a daughter, Miss Anna Marie Guy, Edgely; a son, Ret. Herbert L. Guy, Jr., of Fort Hood, Texas; a sister, Mrs. Harry Force, Bristol; and a brother, Earl Guy, Jersey City, N. J.

CENSORSHIP IN KOREA

Military censorship in Korea has now run the gamut from none at all to the comprehensive regulations imposed by Eighth Army headquarters last week. Correspondents now are wondering how they are to cover the fighting when almost anything they write could mean suspension or court martial. That latter is a new twist. Never before have correspondents of American newspapers been threatened with court martial.

The new code requires that dispatches must be accurate in statement and implication and must not supply military information to the enemy. The identity of organizations in combat areas or communications zones must not be revealed. Officers must not be quoted, directly or indirectly, or even anonymously, on military matters—except by direct authorization.

It is not always possible to keep inaccurate implications out of accurate dispatches and it could happen that a correspondent's own views might be mistakenly laid on some hapless officer. And there are other rules that put greater handicaps on correspondents.

For example, no base, port, communications center or other points on a line of communications may be mentioned by name or description as having anything to do with military activities. Neither ship nor rail movements, troop numbers, nor the effect of enemy fire may be discussed except as authorized.

The use and conditions of roads, railways and other transport facilities, together with the position or description of billets or camps, are not to be mentioned.

Add to these the prohibition against reports of enemy action which, if published, would encourage "despondency" in U. S. forces, and what can a correspondent write? There is one more thing he cannot write—statements that might tend to bring U. S. forces or those of this country's allies into disrepute.

Censorship such as this obviously could be used to hide inefficiency and even incompetence.

POLAR ICE CAP TO BLAME?

An article in a recent Reader's Digest is rather discouraging for ice skating enthusiasts in the central latitudes. It cited evidence to support that group of geographers which says the temperate zone is getting warmer and the frigid zone less frigid. New York City has the kind of winters now that Washington formerly had, it is contended. Montreal's last few winters have been like New York's several generations ago.

The fact is that the polar ice cap is slowly receding again. May be another warm cycle is coming along.

If so, the changes are discernible only over many years, and wouldn't make much difference to anyone but a skater or a skier. Winter temperatures in a wide belt across the central part of the nation are highly "critical" where ice and snow are concerned. Let the average temperature be a degree or two higher than usual, and there goes most of the skating.

with other broken stones, reads: "In memory of Mary Conner, foun- dress of Methodist society in Bris- tol. Through whose labor the first church was built on this ground were of the British army, though and consistent Christian until her death about 1816."

The illegible part of the inscription probably refers to a Captain Webb of the British army who was the first to preach Methodism in Bristol around 1771. Mary Conner was one of the first to be converted by the British army officer as he preached under a tree on the site of the old Methodist Church, Wood street, now being used as a wood-working mill.

When the Bristol circuit was founded in 1788, William Doughtery, appointed as first minister, organized a group of 11 persons, one of whom was Mary Conner. She was placed in charge of soliciting funds for a church building, and, even though the person entrusted with the funds squandered the money, the church was finally finished in 1803. The church was replaced by the former Python Hall in 1844, and the present structure at Mulberry and Cedar streets, was built in 1895-1896.

Another old stone is the broken marker of Henry Nelson, who died in 1818. The gravestone of Louisa Ann Johnson, 1822, is still standing near the Pond street side and is in a remarkably good state of preservation. The newest stone in the cemetery is dated 1934 and marks the grave of James L. Grap- ple.

Many of the stones have the quaint epitaphs common in the 19th century. Jacob Simon, who died in 1883, has this: "Farewell dear children, my life is past, may you and I united be at last, mourn not for me in vain, to call me to meet and part no more."

A small stone marks the grave of Helen S. Woodington, daughter of Frank and Emma Woodington, who died in 1894 at the age of five months. "Our only one," is the inscription on the child's grave.

Many veterans of the Civil War are buried in the cemetery. Simon E. Baker, past commander of the Bristol GAR post 73, died in 1893 and lies buried there under a GAR star marker. Some of the others include Father Robert Chase, 82 Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers; John Osmond, Company 8, 6th New Jersey; John Newcamp and Allen Severns, Company 1, Pennsylvania Infantry; and Col. John Gossine, 95th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, who was killed at the battle of Gaines Mill, Va., on June 29, 1862. "The battle is over, the soldier sleeps," reads his inscription.

Sale of Starkey Equipment Attracts Nearly 2,000

MORRISVILLE, Jan. 25 — The public auction of canning machinery, tractors, trucks and farm equipment of the Morrisville farm of Starkey Farms, held here Tuesday, is considered highly successful by Samuel T. Freeman & Co., auctioneers of Philadelphia. The sale was very largely attended, and between 1500 and 2000 people were present at the height. The sale grossed approximately $60,000, and was in continuous progress from 11:30 a. m. until five p. m. Tuesday. Addison Freeman, Jr., was in charge.

Purchasers at the sale came from a wide area, including numerous states, some being reported present from Florida, Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Michigan.

The canning plant, consisting of bean-line, tomato-line, spinach-line, and asparagus-line, and eight retorts (also known as industrial pressure cookers) were offered as units or for individual bids which ever was the highest. Individual bids amounted to the highest in each instance. The bean-line sold for approximately $16,000; tomato-line, $4,000; spinach-line, $5,000. The price of the retorts averaged between $400 and $450 each.

The sale was conducted to close out the Starkey Farms which have been in existence at this location for many years.

The Starkey property is included in the tract of 2300 acres purchased by the United States Steel Corporation on which the firm plans to start erection of a modern steel mill employing 4400 production workers on March 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mantz, Philadelphia, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Davis.

Commission To Operate Bridges

also have declared they would appeal the decision soon.

The stay of execution halts the judge's original order which directed the bridges be returned to their former private owner, the Burlington-Bristol Bridge Co.

This means that the commission, which accumulated more than $500,000 in profit for the county during its first two years operation of the spans, will continue to operate the two bridges.

The latest hearing in the case also made it clear that court-appointed receivers would not operate the spans. The receivers, it was understood, will only collect the stock of the Burlington-Bristol Bridge Co.

It also was disclosed that David J. Connolly, president of Newark's Federal Trust Co., has been named a receiver in place of W. Paul Stillman, president of Newark's National State Bank, who could not accept the position. The other receiver is William B. Wells, Borden attorney.

Prior to the granting of the stay, Maj. Gen. Clifford R. Powell, of Delanco, one of the former owners of the spans, charged that he was the only defendant against whom the execution of judgment had been issued.

He made this charge after Burlington County Sheriff William F. Parker, disclosed he had received the judgment levy against Powell.

Sheriffs in other counties where defendants in the bridge suit resided said they had not received copies of the levy.

James Hill Named Finance Chairman

Galfont, New Britain, Buckingham, Carversville, New Hope and area in the vicinity of those communities. Mr. Bachmann will be assisted by community chairmen and service clubs now organizing to put the campaign "over the top."

The 1951 finance campaign has a $32,000 goal which will be used for maintenance of the work of the council for another year. The council budget is drawn up by the finance committee and after careful study is given to the executive board, composed of prominent citizens of the county for consideration and approval.

The growth of Scouting and need for financial aid of the council is explained in brochures which have been distributed to 10,000 former contributors. The financial campaign committee of which Captain E. W. Rounds, USN (ret.) is the chairman, expects to reach the goal of 10,000 contributors or "Friends of Scouting" this year.

Warren Betsch, Yardley, is chairman of the campaign in the Delaware Valley district. Mr. Betsch is vice-president of the council and a member of the council finance committee. Each year he has a large group of men and women who serve as community chairmen and work-

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gum, good party taste or feeling. FASTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store. (Advertisement).

TWO FIRES SWELLED LOSS IN PERKASIE

Total Loss Due to Fires in 1950 Put at $55,300,
Records Show

ONE THEATRE BLAZE

Two fires in Perkasie accounted for $50,000 fire loss during 1950. Total loss amounted to $55,300, one of the highest in years. The first at the Industrial Safety Specialties, Inc., plant on South Fourth street, early in the year and another at Plaza Theatre on November 25th. Fire chief, Paul Myers, submitted a yearly report of fire losses and other phases of fire fighting at a meeting of the fire company, held recently. Local firemen responded to 45 calls during the year, 19 in the borough, and 26 out of town. There was one call for fire work.

There were 1,117 firemen responses recorded for the year or an average of 24.3 per call. A total of 47,919 man-hours were spent in active fire fighting service. Trucks traveled a total of 166½ miles and pumper were in operation a total of 27 hours.

The busiest day of the year was November 25, when the hurricane-like storm flooded scores of cellars and climaxing the busy day was the Plaza Theatre fire.

In addition to the monetary losses here, one death resulted from a fire. The victim was Robert Hendricks, who lost his life when his home was destroyed by fire. He resided in Hilltown township, a short distance east of the borough line.

The fire company ambulance was in much greater demand than the fire fighting equipment. Two hundred and forty times

OCCASION DRESSERS

LONDON — (INS) — The British trade magazine "Style for Men" rapped Englishmen hard over the knuckles for their "slovenly, sloppily and untidy clothes standards" and launched a spirited campaign to combat the "casual look." The magazine lamented: "Englishmen abroad used to be considered as the yardstick by which sartorial standards were measured. This is no longer the case. Leisure clothes are now being worn at all times."

The men of England no longer dress for occasions."

YOU CAN SURVIVE THE ATOM BOMB

KNOW THE BOMB'S TRUE DANGERS. KNOW STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO ESCAPE THEM.

This is the second of a series of ten

What About Blast?TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM BLAST, LIE DOWN IN A SHIELDED SPOT*EVEN if you have only a second's warning, there is one important thing you can do to lessen your chances of injury by blast. Fall flat on your face.

More than half of all wounds are the result of being bodily tossed about or being struck by falling and flying objects. If you lie down flat, you are least likely to be thrown about. If you have time to pick a good spot, there is less chance of your being struck by flying glass and other things.

IN YOUR HOUSE: LIE DOWN AGAINST A WALL

If you are inside a building, the best place to flatten out is close against the cellar wall. If you haven't time to get down there, lie down along an inside wall, or duck under a bed or table. But don't pick a spot right opposite the windows or you are almost sure to be pelted with shattered glass.

OUTDOORS: GET NEXT TO A SOLID BUILDING

If caught out-of-doors, either drop down alongside the base of a good substantial building—avoid flimsy, wooden ones likely to be blown over on top of you—or else jump in any handy ditch or gutter.

TO ESCAPE TEMPORARY BLINDNESS, BURY YOUR FACE IN YOUR ARMS

When you fall flat to protect yourself from a bombing, don't look

WOMAN OF 98 KEEPS BUSY MAKING RUGS

Mrs. Ellis L. Heston, formerly of Bristol, is Exceptionally Spry

OUTLIVES 4 CHILDREN

A former Bristol resident, Mrs. Mary E. Heston, 758 Pennington Ave., Trenton, N. J., claims there's no such thing as being too old to learn. To prove her point, she started out at the age of 92 to learn how to make rag rugs. Today, at 98, it's believed, she's about as good a rug maker as you'll find anywhere.

Mrs. Heston, who doesn't look a day over 85, and is sprier than some folks in their 70's, admits that stark necessity, as well as her hankering to be doing something, had a part in causing her to take up rag rug making. She has made a few hundred rugs.

She is the last of seven children. Of her three sons and two daughters, all have died except a daughter, Mrs. Lottie Phillipi, who is a patient in Donnelly Memorial Hospital, Trenton. Mr. Heston died 25 years ago. For the last 18 years of his life he was paralyzed as a result of an accident and needed constant care. Mrs. Heston has no grandchildren. Her late son, Augustus, had two boys but they died in childhood.

The Trenton resident was born on a farm two miles out of Lambertville, N. J., on Sept. 6, 1852. She was the daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Johnson, and her father was a farmer. Mrs. Heston left school at the age of 12 and went to Lambertville to learn dressmaking from a Mrs. Chandler.

Mrs. Heston met her husband, Ellis L. Heston, at a dance in Lambertville. He worked on his family's farm near Titusville and it was there, at the age of 16, that

Mrs. Heston began her married life. After 19 years of farm life, her husband secured a job with the Pennsylvania Railroad and the family moved to Trenton. That was 65 years ago, and with the exception of a couple years at Bristol, Mrs. Heston has lived in Trenton.

For many years Mrs. Heston had a dressmaking shop at her home, and at one time had three women in her employ. Members of some of the most prominent families in the city were among her customers. In those days petticoats and other under-garments were made by dress-makers, of either cotton or silk; in addition to the dresses and other outer garments. Five or six yards of material were required for a house dress. With material at five cents a yard, and Mrs. Heston's fee from 50¢ to $1.50, the dresses cost little compared to today's prices. "Nowadays you see more of the woman than the dress, and frankly I like it. I made many a long skirt . . . that helped to sweep Trenton's streets."

Speaking of her 100th anniversary, the Trentonian remarked, "Well, at my age, I never look forward to anything. I just live from day to day, thankful for all the blessings that I've had and all those that come to me when the sun rises each morning. You don't ask for much when you're 98 years old."

Although she has always had a desire to travel, she has never been further than Kansas City and Virginia. She is content to leave flying to others. She is a member of Trinity Methodist Church, Trenton. Speaking of the high cost of living today, and expense of medical aid, she remarked "When my children were born, it never cost more than $10 for the doctor and nurse combined."

It's easy! Use famous Vicks VapoRub in a vaporizer or bowl of boiling water as directed in package. Then let your child breathe in the medicated vapors.
